The total ore production of patented mines in Pima county for the year 1910 reached a final valuation of $791,371, according to statistics filed with County Assessor J. W. Bogan for purposes of the 1911 assessment which is now being made.

The Prescott chamber of commerce is seeking the aid of the women of the city to help boost. In a speech at the recent dinner of that organization the women of Prescott were urged to organize and help in a systematic boosting campaign which includes home buying.

Last week six wagon loads of refugees with their household goods camped at Thatcher on their way from Mormon colonies in Mexico to Utah. The Mexican revolution and unsettled conditions had disgusted them with colonization schemes and they were off to their old homes.

Heartbroken because of the theft of a large collection of cactus canes and other trifles of similar character which he had laboriously fashioned with a pen-knife in order that he might feel that he was not entirely dependant upon public charity, Montgomery Joice, aged eighty years, died yesterday at the county hospital at Tucson.

Douglas will get one of the thirty postal savings banks to be established by the postmaster general on June 1, according to advices received here. Douglas was given the bank by reason of the large number of people employed at the smelters there, it being the policy of the post-office department to place the banks at industrial centers. —Bisbee Review.

Thirty miles south of Yucca, on the road to Signal, Harry LeClair, while sinking a well, encountered golden the bed rock, some of the nuggets being as large as a wax bean, and much the same shape, says the Needles Eye. In a small space at the bottom of the well he took out about $35. He will drift from the bottom of the well to ascertain the extent of the diggings. —Prescott Courier.

Surveys have been completed, the right of way secured, and all preparations made for the construction of the railroad from Mesa to the Chandler ranch. Grading will commence at an early date. The railroad will be built and operated by the Arizona Eastern as a branch of the Phoenix and Eastern division. The Chandler ranch consists of thousands acres of good land, and A. J. Chandler, the owner, broke all valley records for alfalfa production two years ago by marketing over five thousand ton. —Democrat.

The Old Dominion production for April was only a few thousand pounds less than for the preceding month, the output being 2,215,000 pounds. Superintendent G. H. Dowell stated that it would be kept at this rate throughout the summer, as the company had no intention of curtailing production. It had been rumored that the company would reduce its output because of the low price of copper, but the Old Dominion is making money even with copper at less than 12 cents, owing to the new management. —The Daily Globe.

Prof. R. H. Forbes, director of the agricultural experiment station of the University of Arizona, has made a report concerning dry farming and irrigation during the last year, and of plans for the future of the Sulphur Springs valley. He says the work of the last two years has shown that fairly satisfactory crops can be grown by dry farming methods and the same thing is true in the northern part of the territory at 5000 feet altitude and above. There are several million acres of land believed to be available situated in this particular belt.

TWO REBEL CHIEFS.

Jack Kelly and Diego Moreno Capture Altar.

The following from the Tucson Citizen of May 16th, will be interesting reading to many people of Nogales and northern Sonora where Jack Kelly late of Cananea, now of this city, is well known:

Having captured Altar yesterday at the head of a fighting force of 500 rebels, the two commanders of the rebels arrived in Tucson this morning after a flying trip from Altar to Tucson by automobile. They are Diego Moreno, who until a few weeks ago was prefect of Altar and jefe de armas of the entire district, and Jack E. Kelly, an American mining man.

"We are willing to announce," said Mr. Kelly, "that we are loyal Maderistas through and through; that we have been the leaders in the recent rebel activities in northwestern Sonora; that we are fighting for the cause which we believe to be right; and that we are going this evening to Nogales to join the Maderistas there and plan our campaign."

Diego Moreno was warmly greeted. A heavy built man of middle age and pleasant face, he was until a few weeks ago an appointee of General Luis Torres with power absolute in his district. He was at the head of all things civil and military, in command of the federal soldiers in all the neighboring towns, supervisor of customs and chief factor in every way.

The story of his rupture with the government and his renunciation of the federal cause was related with his consent by Mr. Kelly as follows:

"The rebels captured Petiquita. Upon hearing of it, Gen. Torres telegraphed Prefect Moreno to lead his federals out and retake the town. Moreno refused to obey, for the reason that the soldiers were ragged, in dire need of clothes, shoes, and food.

Gen. Torres again ordered him to take the town, and he again declined, but Captain Flores was sent out with a force of federals. The rebels had withdrawn and Flores took the town. He gave his soldiers permission to loot the town for two hours, which they did. On hearing of it, the prefect hastened to Petiquita, took the loot away from the federals, and piled it in the principal public street with a guard over it. He then summoned the inhabitants and restored their property to them.

"From that moment he renounced the federal government utterly.

He discharged the federal soldiers, opened the jail at Altar, liberated the prisoners, and told them to join whatever cause they wished.

"Since then Moreno and I have been in active control of the rebels, though the leadership was not known publicly. We made one trip alone to Batalluna where we knew the rebels were in power. Having just arrived from Mexicali, they did not know us. We were arrested, thrown in jail, and kept there three days. But when we and our connection with the rebels became known, we were released.

"Yesterday I left Tucson in an automobile, and went across the line into the mountains near Boludo where I met Moreno and his men. We went out from the mountains and captured Altar without any resistance whatever. We had 500 rebels and they are now at the town.

"Feeling the necessity for getting to Nogales, as soon as possible to aid the cause there, we left our command at 5 o'clock yesterday evening. Our men, all in line, gave us a hearty farewell with cheers of 'Viva Madero, Viva Moreno y Kelly.'"

CABRAL KEEPS PROMISE.

Returns to Cananea With Victorious Army.

Juan Cabral, well known in Tucson, has kept the promise he made when he was driven from Cananea two years ago following alleged revolutionary activities during the electoral campaigns.

"I'll come back to Cananea and you'll be sorry to see me when I return," declared the young man. "I'll come in a way that will make you regret having driven me out." Nearly two years after making that promise he has "made good." Yesterday his force entered Cananea which is now under rebel control.

Cabral was a clerk in the lumber department of the Four C. Company at Cananea for several years. Prior to his being driven from the camp he was well known for his revolutionary tendencies and was said to have escaped serious punishment for his talks against the government because he had strong political influence back of him which saved him.

Cabral, following his expulsion from the big copper camp, came to Tucson and lived for a time. He became active in the councils of the liberal party plotters against the Diaz government and was one of the first leaders to take the field in the Sonora campaign.

Cabral is a young man, not being more than twenty-eight years of age. He is well educated and is possessed of considerable executive ability, which he has displayed in his management of the troops under his command. —Star.

SURVEY COMPLETED.

This week J. B. Wright and his corps of surveyors will have completed the government survey of all lands in the Wallapai and Big Sandy valleys, embracing thirty-three townships. Owing to the peculiar condition of the surveys on each side of these valleys many of the sections will contain approximately 1,000 acres each, instead of the usual 640. The area embraced in the survey amounts to close to 1,000,000 acres, the greater part of which is level valley lands, only the north end of the Wallapai mountains and some of the Peacocks having been taken in.

Now that the actual surveys of the valley has been made there will be a big scramble for lands as soon as the land office has accepted the survey and thrown open to filing. It is understood that the Santa Fe intends to lay script on a large area of the land and that an effort will then be made to bring the lands under cultivation. The lands are among the richest in the world and should water be placed upon them this county would immediately rank among the big counties of territory. —Kingman Miner.

TOM REED SHIPS $76,500.

Yesterday afternoon Bert Lunceford, assistant superintendent of the Tom Reed Gold Mines company, brought in from the mill one of the largest bars of bullion ever shipped from the plant. The bullion weighed $76,500 and was the cleanup of thirty-two days' run of the twenty stamp mill. When it is taken into consideration that several days were lost in lack of power and the breaking of a pump the production of the mill is surprising. The largest bar heretofore produced in a month was that for the month of March, about $60,000, but the mill was run on very high grade materials during that time. Now the run of the mine is taken and the result shows a remarkably good grade of ore throughout. The saving in the mill is very high, only a few cents being allowed to get a merely mechanical loss. The bar was one of the handsomest ever brought to Kingman showing that golden yellow that denotes high bullion. —Miner.

SURRENDER OF CANANEA.

Federal Soldiers March Out With Honors of War.

Cananea, Sonora, May 13.—All Cananea is tonight noisily celebrating the occupation by the insurrecto army, and cries of "Viva Cabral," and "Viva Madero," fill the air.

The indication is that business will proceed without interruption. Possession of the town was gained by the insurgent force without loss of life.

The federal garrison, under command of Colonel Chiapas, having surrendered with all the honors of war, filed out as the triumphant insurrectos marched in the town at 3:30 this afternoon, the town, and, it is expected, will take up the march to Nogales tomorrow.

Thousands of people went to the baseball grounds to meet the insurrectos, in all sorts of vehicles, among which was one containing the leader's father, Juan Cabral, Sr., and other members of the family. When ready to proceed to Cananea bands headed the procession. When the ball park was reached, Cabral was almost dragged from his horse by his admirers and wreaths of flowers were hung around his officers. The procession then proceeded to town and camped in a vacant lot near Colonel Greene's residence.

At 8:30 p. m. Cabral gave orders that the shooting of guns in celebration of the capture of the city be stopped, and also commanded that all people be within their homes within one hour.

There are three Americans with Cabral's guard of twenty-four men. Herman Mahlow, formerly of Bisbee and Cananea, is lieutenant.

The local government at Agua Prieta is completed. Medina is jefe politico; Serafino Robles, comisario de policy and R. Breton, of Nacoari, collector of customs. Governor Maytorena will arrive in few days and establish the government of Sonora. There was much business at the customs house today.
